

New York Dental Expert Says That Dentists Can Help Patients Have a Younger Looking Smile, Regardless of Their Age

Greenwich Village dentist, Dr. Charles Puglisi, says that choosing the right dentist can help to ensure a youthful-looking, healthy smile

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, February 19, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- According to Dr. Charles Puglisi, DMD, F.A.G.D., a leading Manhattan dentist (www.drpuglisi.com) based in Greenwich Village, dentists, particularly those offering an array of general dentistry and cosmetic dentistry services, can help patients reverse the signs of aging, by giving them a healthier, more youthful smile.

“The signs of aging are nowhere more apparent than in one’s teeth,” says Dr. Puglisi. “In fact, the negative effects of aging not only have an impact on one’s teeth, but that impact will in turn have a negative effect on the patients face and overall appearance as well.”

This happens, he explains, as a result of years of improper biting, jaw clenching, and discoloration. Thankfully, he says, an expert New York Dentist can reverse these negative impacts that aging can have on a patient through an array of dental procedures which can transform a person’s appearance and well-being, as well as boost their self esteem. In fact, he says that patients will notice measurable results after just one visit.

“Like any good dental practice, my staff and I keep up with the latest technologies to make anti-aging dentistry comfortable and affordable, without compromising the incredibly natural look that patients demand,” says Puglisi. “From tooth whitening procedures to natural-looking porcelain veneers, we can create a brand new smile that will take years off your appearance.”

The problem, according to Dr. Puglisi, with many New York dentists, is that they rely on outdated methods to correct dental problems.
