SYDNEY, NSW, AUSTRALIA, July 2, 2014

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Benjamin & Leonardo has announced that they can take up cases across NSW; this is because they can litigate in all NSW courts. The law firm has said that the ability for them to operate across NWS will allow for them to serve a greater number of people across the country. However, even though the law firm is mostly famous for their success at defending drink driving cases they have also had great success with other criminal cases as well over the years and continue to do so.

Drink driving is one of the most common criminal charges faced by thousands of Australians across the country. However, even though the number of drink driving solicitors may now number in the dozens many of these lawyers are not good at successfully defending clients. Many times legal slip-ups and a lack of preparation cost clients thousands of dollars, their jobs and at least a two year long driving ban. That said drink driving is not as serious as assault and other charges which carry a more severe penalty. People who are faced with drink driving charges in addition to assault and other criminal charges often find it hard to get good representation. But this is where the expert services of Benjamin & Leonardo, who specialize in all types of criminal cases across NSW come in.

"We are proud to be able to defend our clients across all courts in NSW. We work very hard to defend our clients and the ability to defend clients across NSW means that regardless of the charges we can defend them successfully," said one of the lawyers at Benjamin & Leonardo. "People who are in need of help or representation can call us at any time they can also contact or book an appointment via our newly designed website, which is aimed at making it easy for people to get help."

Benjamin & Leonardo is one of the leading criminal lawyers in Australia. The law firm has been around for a very long time and has been responsible for getting many clients reduced penalties or simply allowed to go free. Both Benjamin and Leonardo have been practising law successfully for over a decade and use their experience to help people with some of the most complicated and difficult cases which range from drink driving to other matters. They also provide advice via their free consultation service. However, experts strongly advice that people who do seek consultation with an attorney always go in prepared with all the details drafted on paper. Since this ensures that they don't forget to mention important points which could help the attorney draft a viable action plan.

More information about Benjamin & Leonardo criminal lawyers can be found on their website. The new redesigned website also allows for people to directly book a consultation session with the company by filling out a short form. Alternatively, people can simply call up the service to find out more or to book an appointment.
