The Gwendolyn Strong Foundation, a Santa Barbara based nonprofit, received 13 iPads from We-Care.com to support its Project Mariposa iPad grant program.

SANTA BARBARA, CA, USA, July 17, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Gwendolyn Strong Foundation (GSF), a Santa Barbara based nonprofit organization. received a donation of 13 iPads from We-Care.com to support its Project Mariposa iPad grant program. The generous donation is a result of the "iCAN: Empowering Kids with Autism and SMA" project started by We-Care.com in 2013. Through iCAN, We-Care.com encourages its users to shop in support of the program with a portion of every purchase made from one of their 2,500 participating online retailers donated automatically towards the technology grants.

The GSF focuses on a degenerative disease, similar to ALS/Lou Gehrig's but typically in babies and young children, called spinal muscular atrophy (SMA). Their minds are never affected, but SMA impacts every physical aspect of their life. The iPad is life-changing for those with SMA, assisting with education, independence, and in some cases empowering them to communicate for the first time in their lives.

Project Mariposa was launched by the GSF in January 2012 with a simple mission of making the world more accessible to those with severe disabilities, specifically SMA, through targeted iPad grants. Since 2012, GSF has granted over 185 iPads through the program.

"I think many take technology for granted," said Bill Strong, GSF co-founder. "We've become accustom to the luxuries and efficiencies that a device like an iPad can provide us. But for those with special needs, an iPad can literally open up their entire world, allowing them to do things they otherwise couldn't. We're proud of what we've accomplished through our Project Mariposa iPad grant program. But it wouldn't be possible without the incredibly generous support of companies like We-Care.com. And we're so grateful for their partnership."

"When we learned about the impact that an iPad could have on a person's life, we knew we had to do something to help," said Gina Navani, Director of Operations at We-Care.com. "From being able to do a class presentation to picking out clothes for the first time, this technology empowers people with SMA. I feel grateful that 13 individuals are going to be empowered because hundreds of users chose to support iCan with their everyday online shopping."
