

Bonnie Groessl of M&B Global Solutions to be Featured on CUTV News Radio

GREEN BAY, WISCONSIN, USA, January 23, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Writing a book can be a challenge – that’s why people who do it stand out from the crowd. The good news is it’s not impossible. Far from it, in fact. Learning the secrets the experts use can make your dream of publishing a book a reality.

Founded by Bonnie Groessl and her husband, professional writer Mike Dauplaise, M&B Global Solutions Inc. is a coaching practice dedicated to helping holistic-minded individuals become published authors and successful entrepreneurs. Mike and Bonnie take the "overwhelm" out of the writing process, helping you complete your book and get it published for the world to see.

“We help people write quality books and get them published,” says Bonnie. “I love to help people turn their passion into a business they love. Publishing helps people build a platform toward becoming an expert in their niche.”

Indeed, while almost anyone can build a website, not everyone can publish a book. Sharing your message as a published author offers instant credibility. More importantly, your book helps build a business that generates revenue by providing content you can repurpose into products and services such as training and coaching programs.

“You can remain consistent with your message across all those platforms,” says Bonnie. “It gives you that core foundation. As you move forward, it can serve as your compass, something you can always refer to that reinforces why you’re doing what you’re doing.”

Bonnie says most of M&B Global Solutions’ clients are not writers in the traditional sense, but they all have a message or story to share. As a coach, Bonnie helps her clients share that message in a way that’s readable and engaging by offering strategies that make the task of writing a book seem not quite so overwhelming.

Bonnie begins each session with a new client with “The Miracle Question.”

“If you went to bed tonight and while you were asleep a miracle happened, and when you woke up tomorrow morning everything was different and life was the way you wanted it to be, what would that look like? How would you feel?” says Bonnie. “That miracle question helps people discover their ‘why’ and fuel a fire in their belly. It’s important that people have a passion for what they do and a big enough ‘why’ to pull them through the tough times.”

Bonnie says she hopes to continue M&B Global Solutions’ expansion and help more people share their gifts with the world.

“Whether you’re publishing a book to leave a legacy or build a business, it’s more about helping people believe they can have the life they want.”
