

Atlanta, Georgia REALTOR® Jacquelyn Hutchison Earns Her Military Relocation Professional (MRP) Certification

The Military Relocation Professional (MRP) Certification Is For Real Estate Professionals Who Want To Work With Current And Former Military Service Members

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, USA, January 31, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Jacquelyn Hutchison grew up traveling the world as the child of a WWII Air Force Navigator who worked on flight crews.

Her father was stationed at Hellenikon Air Base in Athens, Greece, where he met and married her mother. Shortly thereafter the family was transferred back to the United States to Alabama and her dad became a quality control expert working on jet engines. "My father was a dyed-in-the-wool Military man" says Jacquelyn "He didn't get out of the service until they made him get out!"

I always had a soft place in my heart for Military families. Having spent my life in a Military family, I truly understood the gifts, as well as the sacrifices, that all Military members experience.”

Jacquelyn spent her high school years in Izmir, Turkey, before returning to the U.S. where she graduated from Troy University in Alabama with a Bachelor's Degree in Medical Science. She then began her internship at St. Margaret's Hospital in Montgomery. "My mother always taught me to be independent and to rely only on myself" she recalls, "and the world was my oyster. When I got my degree, I could work anywhere in the world and move anywhere, anytime I wanted to."

Because of that, Jacquelyn was able to secure a job as a laboratory analyst in Kauai, Hawaii where she resided for several years doing lab work for the hospital and all the

When her beloved grandmother became seriously ill, Jacquelyn decided to return to the mainland to be with her - this time to Georgia, where her family lived. She then became employed at SmithKline Bioscience Lab in Atlanta, later becoming the Ethics and Compliance Officer for the Sales and Marketing Division of Quest Diagnostics, a multi-billion dollar international healthcare company.

Jacquelyn never dreamed of settling down and getting married until she met her future husband, Roger. "It was love at first sight for both of us" she muses, "He was an extremely successful businessman as a General Contractor in the construction industry and he was a cowboy from Texas! My sister said 'this isn't a marriage, this is a merger!' I was a city girl and he was a country boy. He introduced me to things I would never have imagined, like fly-fishing, and summer in the mountains. I absolutely loved it!"

Jacquelyn had always been interested in Real Estate.

She often went to open houses with her family as a child. So, in 2011, when her job was downsized, she immediately went to Real Estate School, got her license, walked into her local Coldwell Banker office and said: "Here I am!" She's been there ever since.

In 2013, she received an e-mail notifying her that a course was being offered for the Military Relocation Professional (MRP) Certification. She was beyond thrilled. "I always had a soft place in my heart for all Military families" she says, "Having spent my entire life in a Military family, I truly understood the gifts, as well as the sacrifices, that all Military members experience. When the opportunity came for me to earn my MRP Certification, I jumped at the chance. I sincerely wanted to be able to offer this informative knowledge to my clients and I wanted them to come to me as their Agent because I know, first hand, what it takes to be in the Military. The seeds were planted by growing up in a Military family and I am able to relate to them on all levels."

Jacquelyn also knows the importance of having a place to call home. As a teenager living overseas, she was always excited to come back home. "When you're a part of the Military family, you not only represent the Military, but also the United States of America. It's almost like having to be onstage when you're away, so I was always comfortable coming back home where I could just relax. At the same time, I was very grateful to have all of the wonderful opportunities that being in a Military family provided and I was always very proud of my dad because it was his job to make sure that all the jet engines were in absolute perfect shape in order to successfully go on important missions. Their lives and missions depended on it. His greatest achievement was that he never lost an airplane, and I think that is quite honorable."
