

Hawaii REALTOR® Pamela Cleere Reaches Out To Local ‘Heroes’ In Honolulu

HONOLULU, HAWAII, USA, April 14, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Keller Williams Honolulu, Real Estate consultant Pamela Cleere is a Certified Military Relocation Professional in Hawaii. She is also a retired Military Veteran. “I began my Military career in Texas” she says, “I trained at Lackland Air Force Base and my first assignment in Logistics was Sembach AB, Germany. After transferring to Charleston AFB, SC, I entered the Weather Technology field as a Weather Forecaster.”

Recently, Pamela has dedicated herself to assisting local heroes, including police officers, firefighters, emergency medical technicians, military members, veterans, teachers, health care workers, and others that serve the local community. In this manner, she can help when they are buying a home, selling a home, or investing in Real Estate.

A hero is not someone you simply admire or respect. A hero is a very distinct person who transforms their personal virtue of passion into a civic virtue, which is heroic action. Heroes are committed to being of service to people in the community, which often involves a risk to their physical safety and quality of life.

I am genuinely excited to be able to serve our local heroes. They put their lives on the line for us every day, so I want to give back to them in every way I can. I am so grateful for their service.”

Pamela says, “Many times when we call a person a ‘hero’ they don’t understand why they are being exalted merely for doing what they believe is the right thing to do. They are very humble in this regard and are not seeking attention by placing other people’s well-being before their own. I admire this quality in them because, essentially, our freedoms and well-being are dependent upon these few.”

Pamela knows this all too well. After assignments at Sembach AB, Germany, Charleston AFB, SC, Carswell AFB, Texas, Ramstein AFB, Germany, Hickam AFB, HI, Wheeler AAF, HI, and Youngson, South Korea, Pamela retired in 1999 from Ft. Hood, Texas. She then entered a career at L3 Communications where she obtained her Bachelor’s in Computer Studies from University of Maryland, University College. She provided software support for tactical systems while embedded with Military Units in Kuwait and Iraq.

member of Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW). She says, "I honestly enjoy assisting people with the opportunity to build wealth because of home ownership, and it makes me really happy to be the first one to tell our heroes that I can compensate them with some of their closing costs that they might not be aware of. I am truly 'Living the Dream' here in Hawaii as a full-time local Realtor assisting our local heroes."

Pamela enjoys walking on the beach, recreational hiking, Zumba classes, winery's, wine tasting, Mediterranean cooking, and traveling. She believes that your business grows to the extent that you grow. She also enjoys reading books such as "The Law of Success" "The One Thing" "The Slight Edge" and the "Millionaire Real Estate Agent" - just to name a few.
