IT Governance's CEO, Alan Calder, to speak at 27K: The Security Summit for the Americas in San Francisco, California

ELY, CAMBRIDGESHIRE, UNITED KINGDOM, September 19, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Cyber security expert Alan Calder, the founder and executive chairman of IT Governance, will speak on September 28, 2016 at 27K: The Security Summit for the Americas in San Francisco, California on the subject of information security for Cloud services.

Alan Calder said: "I'm delighted to be part of the security for Cloud services panelist discussion at 27K: The Security Summit for the Americas in San Francisco. Information security is about more than technology alone. ISO 27001, the standard for information security, and ISO 27018, the international Cloud privacy standard, recognize that individual behavior from the CEO down, and effective processes and procedures are necessary to achieve cyber resilience.

"I hope our panel discussion will help information security teams and Cloud service providers get a better understanding of the protection offered by ISO 27018 and the guidance, controls and privacy principles for the public computing environment.".

Alan will be discussing the industry interest in information security for Cloud services and why companies are moving to IaaS/PaaS/SaaS solutions. He will be joined by fellow panelists Scott Bullock, the information security manager of ForcePoint Cloud Services; Jim Reavis, the co-founder and CEO of the Cloud Security Alliance; and John DiMaria, the former ISO product manager of BSI Group.

Taking place on September 28, 2016 from 3:30pm – 4:30pm, the panel discussion will provide different perspectives on the current issues of security in the Cloud and the future challenges for those involved with certified Cloud security.

27k: The Security Summit for the Americas brings together experts in the ISO/IEC 27001 standard to promote the importance of achieving compliance with ISO 27001, the global best-practice for information security implementation.
