In near future, North American ride sharing market is expected to include superior interoperability among services, technology integration, and policy support. These developments also apply to other parts of the world, such as Europe particularly in the UK. Asia currently has more than half of the global population, and is lucrative market for players operating in the market owing to the increasing rate of smartphone adoption. Key players such as Uber have poured resources into Asia with diverse results. Besides, regional competitors from each market have capitalized their local know-how to stay forward in the race for home domination. In promising markets such as India and Southeast Asia there is an enormous increase in the number of users using at least one ride-sharing app.

Some of the key players in the market are Uber, Lyft, Didi, Ola, GrabTaxi, Yidao yongche, Sidecar, BlaBlaCar, Shenzhou Zhuanche and Hailo.
