ELY, CAMBRIDGESHIRE, UNITED KINGDOM, October 18, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- IT Governance, the leader in cyber security and data protection expertise, is proud to be an exhibitor at InfoSec Week London, taking place on 26-27 October 2016.

InfoSec Week supports European Cyber Security Month (ECSM) as promoted by ENISA, ShadowSEC and the University of East London through lectures, workshops and panel discussions on the latest trends in cyber security, data protection and infrastructure for information security.

Alan Calder, the founder and chief executive officer of IT Governance, said: "We are delighted to be exhibiting at InfoSec Week London. With the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and NIS Directive coming into force in May 2018 and cyber threats evolving on a daily basis, the event is a great opportunity for our clients, potential clients and other delegates to find out more about the latest trends in cyber security and data protection, and to learn how our solutions can help their organisations mitigate cyber threats."

To shed light on the EU General Data Protection Regulation and the NIS Directive, Alan Calder will deliver a lecture presentation on the "NIS, GDPR and cyber security: the convergence of cyber and compliance risk" on 26 October 2016 from 10:35 to 11:05am.

IT Governance's head of GRC consultancy, Tony Drewitt, will also take part in a panel discussion on data privacy on 26 October 2016 from 14:05 to 15:10.

The inaugural Infosec Week event expects approximately 400 attendees over the two days, and encourages private and public companies, government, associations and industry professionals to attend.

The event's key objectives are to generate general awareness about cyber security, discuss the EU Cyber Security Strategy, raise awareness of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and the Network and Information Security (NIS) Directive, promote safer use of the Internet, and generate interest in cyber and information security practices.
