

Entertain Rambunctious Kids At Airports Everywhere With Innovative Talking Luggage

Mom's are excited about Talking Luggage As Kids Are Now Entertained Easily

ORLANDO, FL, UNITED STATES, November 4, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Orion Travel Technologies, Inc. announced today its first Patent Pending Walking Talking Luggage that eases the pain of parents at airports by giving kids of all ages a great way to be entertained with a carry-on that actually talks, barks and meows from an on-board program that will impress everyone including rambunctious children in an Airport, Train Station and at the Cruise Port. Parents everywhere, especially moms are giving a thumbs up for the talking Doggy and Kitty Carry-on's! They are literally brought to life by famous creative photographer, Seth Casteel. "It took us over a year to come up with a carry-on that could brighten anyone's day at the airport from parents to children, I wanted to make travel fun again," said Gary German, Orion TT's Founder.

"We took some speakers, a recording device and pre-recorded what dogs and cats would sound like when they're happy and brought it to life on both sides of a 3D, high gloss, hard shell, piece of luggage, it truly makes everyone smile who sees them," added German.

At this time, Orion is working with various innovative product licensing deals to give customers a wide option of choices in 2017. Orion believes that there are millions of folks who are so frustrated when they take a trip these days, especially when towing along children, whether it's on an airline, a train or on a cruise. Orion wants to ease the pain of traveling parents by offering an iconic talking piece of luggage that will surely bring laughter and a smile to children where-ever the luggage goes!
