

Registration now open for leading Space conference Military Space Situational Awareness 2017

SMi Group Reports: 12th Annual Military Space Situational Awareness is now open for registration

LONDON, SELECT, UNITED KINGDOM, January 9, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- SMi Group is delighted to announce that registration is now open for its leading space conference, Military Space Situational Awareness, taking place in London on the 26th and 27th April 2017.

Military Space SSA 2017

Now in its twelve year, 2017's highly focused agenda will explore key situational awareness challenges in an increasingly contested, congested and competitive space. Covering topical themes, such as: national updates on SSA, command and control, space weather, traffic management and optical/imaging sensors.

Attendees can look forward to hearing innovative presentations from senior industry and military personnel, working with active projects on enhancing space domain awareness for the international community.

2017's agenda has now been released! To view all speakers and their presentation details, download the brochure from the event website.

FOUR REASONS TO ATTEND:

1. Hear from new countries seeking to develop their space programmes such as Poland, Denmark, the Netherlands and many more
2. Learn from leading nations such as USA, UK, France, Germany and Canada, on how they continue to enhance space security through Space Domain Awareness technologies
3. Discuss key topics that affect space situational awareness; from space-borne sensors to effective information management systems
4. Gain a unique insight in to the challenges we face beyond our atmosphere and how the armed forces and industry are striving to overcome them

FEATURED EUROPEAN PRESENTATIONS:

- 1) Keynote Briefing: Recent Changes in British Military Space Doctrine Enabling Greater SSA Capacity
Wing Commander Rayna Owens, AS Strat 4, UK MoD
- 2) Defending National Sovereignty in Space by Using SSt technology: the French Approach
