

Cubaaz: Personalizing Your Passport to Cuba

Cubaaz.com is the groundbreaking touristic search engine that delivers the ultimate Cuban vacation. The founder Mossé Mickael and Indiegogo team up for tourism.

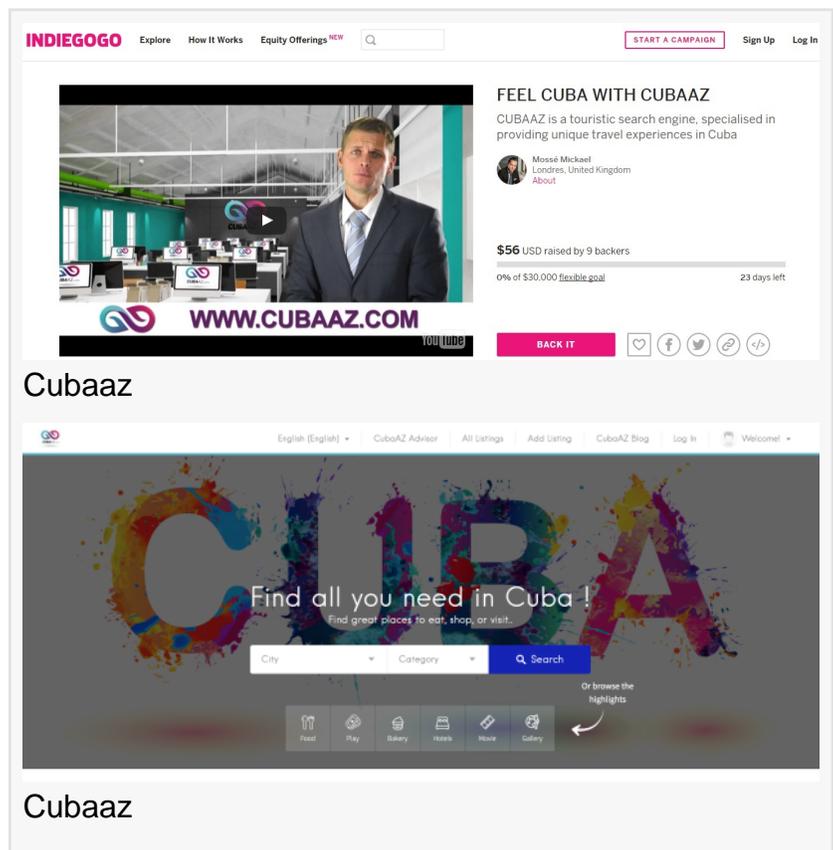

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, January 6, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Last year, the doors to Cuba were flung open as the island nation put out the welcome mat for the world. The country that was controlled by Fidel Castro is no longer closed to Americans who, along with visitors from all over the globe, are seeking an opportunity that will make their travel experience smooth and memorable. How do you get there? Where do you stay once you arrive? What should you do when you get there? That's where Cubaaz, the ultimate twenty-first century travel agent, comes into play. Cubaaz.com is a groundbreaking touristic search engine that is solely dedicated to one place:

Cuba. Cubaaz is now an Indiegogo crowdfunding campaign with the goal of raising $30,000 so that tourists can rely on one travel resource for their Cuban adventure.

Mossé Mickael is the man whose vision, experience and insight created Cubaaz. At ease in communicating in Spanish, English, French, Italian and Portuguese, Mossé's versatility translates into a language that all travelers can understand. What Mossé describes as integrity of information is Cubaaz offering accommodations, international and domestic airline bookings, rental cars, the personal prepaid Cubazz Card by MasterCard, a Cubazz Sim card, tours, packaged travel bookings, and excursion services with your own private driver. You'll also have access to interactive travel forms providing reviews of travel-related content geared toward giving the traveler the kind of insights that can only come from a resource that knows Cuba well.

No graphically modified images here; Cubaaz is the real deal, a game-changer that's designed exclusively with your destination and comfort in mind. Imagine a travel experience that's customized for your interests, preferences, and wallet. Now you don't have to imagine anymore because Cubaaz is your passport to Cuba as you've longed to see it. People who have planned and saved and dreamed of their vacation destination don't want to be tied down; they want a travel process that's easy to understand and to use. You can effortlessly organize your visit with the IOS and Android app, which contains a map of Cuba—available both online and offline—that shows you the tourist spots that you won't want to miss. To make the experience even more comfortable, Cubaaz.com has prepaid MasterCards that can be used all over the island, from Havana to the beach and anywhere in between. Tourists will immediately perceive the advantage of this: there's no need to struggle with currency differences, and you'll avoid the transaction fees that your home bank would charge. You're also liberated from the tourist's eternal terror of relying on cash that's easily lost by using your Cubaaz Card.

Mossé knows that the real Cuba is going to entice visitors because of its natural charm. So what visitors to Cubaaz.com see is what they'll get because the images come from the Cubans themselves, the people who know their island best. Mossé is returning the favor. Not only has he employed Cubans to make your visit more authentic, but he's also returning five percent of the profits to local Cuban charities. Tourism in Mossé's vision isn't merely a matter of airport arrivals and departures, it's nurturing a network of connections to the island by building its social infrastructure. The competition can't make that claim.

In order to understand just how Cubaaz.com and crowdfunding are going to facilitate your travel to Cuba, you need to meet the man whose vision has made Cubaaz such an innovative travel site. Mossé wants to make one thing clear: he wasn't born with a silver spoon in his mouth, he made his own way. Self-educated, Mossé founded the First Real Transac group in 2013 and has advanced to the point where his international interests include real estate, cutting-edge technology, trade, and the import/export of international goods. He brings that knowledge to the newest tourist destination, Cuba.
