

History Publishing Company's Unabomber to Be Major Movie

Viggo Mortensen to Star, Rob Lorentz to Direct

PALISADES, NEW YORK, USA, May 22, 2017

/EINPresswire.com/ -- "Unabomber," the 2014 title was the inside story of how a special team of FBI Agents assembled by the Bureau Director, captured the terrorist known as the Unabomber. It will be brought to the motion picture screen and will star twice-nominated Oscar candidate Viggo Mortensen. The book, written by the three agents leading the team: Special Agent in Charge Jim Freeman, Unit Director and counter-terrorism specialist Terry Turchie, and the street agent who made the final arrest Donald Max Noel, brings the reader inside the Bureau and out on the streets, in a rush to capture the man the press labeled the "Unabomber."

The three author-agents were brought together by the FBI Director who wanted resolution to the terrorism case labeled UNABOM and a capture of the terrorist who eluded, even defied, investigation. The case had been open for sixteen years. The Director wanted it closed before another death occurred.

The results that followed are told in a fast moving account of how the three agents did break through the Bureau's infrastructure that hampered the investigation for sixteen years, and in two years, using unconventional means, succeeded in tracking down and apprehending the terrorist identified as Ted Kaczynski.
