

Premier League season kick-off — powered by Windows Azure

tlive Sport platform provides the season Kick-off live - powered by Windows Azure

DORTMUND, NRW, GERMANY, August 11, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The 2017-18 Premier League season begins today when Arsenal welcomes Leicester City on the day's only game. It's the return of arguably the most popular soccer league in the world, and it's expected to be a wild, competitive season with teams like Arsenal and Manchester United looking much improved.

There aren't many contenders, usually just a handful. There's Chelsea, of course, constant underachievers Arsenal, Manchester United aiming to return to glory, Manchester City, Tottenham and Liverpool. You can predict the champ will come out of that group, but Tottenham hasn't brought in anybody good to boost its squad. The Spurs still have a lot of quality, but have other teams done enough to pass them?
