

Dr. Karen Kline of VCA Veterinary Specialty Center to be Featured on CUTV News Radio

SEATTLE, WASHINGTON, UNITED STATES, September 15, 2017

/EINPresswire.com/ -- When our beloved pets need medical care, we take them to a veterinarian. There are a variety of specialty services available for animals just as there are in human medical care.

VCA Veterinary Specialty Center provides 24/7 medical care with 24 board-certified doctors and over 100 technicians and staff members. Dr. Karen Kline is medical director of the hospital overseeing its daily operation to assure optimum standard of care.

“Many people are unaware of the variety of specialty services available to pets,” says Dr. Kline. “Our veterinary specialists can provide advanced care for pets just like the human model.”

According to Dr. Kline, it's ideal for pet owners to obtain pet insurance starting when their animals are still very young. This makes it easier and more affordable to get the care they need. Additionally, keeping pets in good shape through healthy diet and exercise can play a tremendous role in their overall well-being.

“Rehabilitative preventive maintenance for your pets will help minimize the number of health problems they have in the future,” says Dr. Kline.

VCA veterinary specialty center is first class not only because of their highly skilled specialists but also their core values: take quality care of pets, their owners and each other.

“Pet owners strive to find a medical center that treats them like family,” says Dr. Kline. “They want doctors who provide excellent healthcare while also being compassionate and empathetic to their needs. At VCA we have a wide variety of specialists working together for your pets and we are all under one roof.”

CUTV News Radio will feature Dr. Karen Kline in an interview with Jim Masters on September 19th at 3pm EDT.
