

Dallas-Based Food Merchandising Equipment Manufacturer Supports Residents & Supermarket Retailers Affected By Hurricanes

Dallas-based manufacturer, Atlantic Food Bars, is supporting the Hurricane Harvey and Hurricane Irma residents and supermarket retailers affected by the storms.

DALLAS, TEXAS, USA, September 15, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Dallas-based Atlantic Food Bars, a global leader in food merchandising equipment, specializing in supermarket hot food cases, salad bars, seafood cases, soup bars and other specialty cases, is supporting the retailers and the residents affected by Hurricane Harvey and Hurricane Irma in three ways:

First, Atlantic Food Bars will donate 5% of equipment sales for rebuilding stores affected by the storm, to a Hurricane relief fund to aid the local store's residents.

Second, Atlantic Food Bars will give priority in its fabrication schedule to retailers needing to get back into operation quickly.

Third, Atlantic Food Bars is offering job hiring priority to residents affected by the hurricanes who were displaced to Dallas, and is currently looking for up to 30 employees with trade skills. Jobs are full time, with competitive wages and include a full benefits package with health insurance and 401k. Job seekers are encouraged to submit their resume to: info@atlanticfoodbars.com
