Two lots in particular are expected to get paddles wagging. One is a pair of highly detailed French enamel on copper round portrait plaques, 14 inches in diameter, each depicting a Renaissance man and woman. The plaques, being offered as a single lot, are of the highest quality and condition. Each is mounted in a 25 inch by 25 inch ebony frame, with red velvet borders.

The other is an extremely rare, hand-painted Old Paris porcelain mechanical ferner with bird and floral décor and gold trim highlights, 19 ½ inches tall. The item features a vintage flower arrangement atop the ferner and a mechanical bird on a perch, which is operated by a key-wound animatronic mechanism in full working condition. The overall presentation is that of the highest quality hand-painted porcelain.

Three other lots will also be in the running for top honors. The first is a beautiful, top-quality signed Daum Nancy French cameo table lamp, 17 ½ inches tall with a 19 ½ inch diameter shade showing a three-color cameo carved scene: a frosted white, green and dark red background with a lake and trees.

The second is an outstanding quality Pairpoint Puffy table lamp having a Venice pattern puffy shade that, when lit, gives a needlepoint effect. The 21 ½ inch tall lamp has a two-light, six-sided brass based with embossed floral design. The top center blossom features a pansy blossom with cobalt blue scrolls.

The third is an early (18th or 19th century) French Sevres three-piece ormolu clock set. The clock case boasts 12 individual porcelain plaques, featuring a king, a queen and their court, with armor highlights. The finial shows reclining women. The lot sells with two matching urns with knights and armor décor.

Vases will include a Newcomb College art pottery vase, 5 ¼ inches tall, with low relief carved purple coneflower design and multi-color matte glaze. The artist is Sadie Irvine, best known of the Newcomb pottery decorators. Also selling will be a white satin mother of pearl art glass vase with vertical pinstripe design and an engraved gold garland and medallion décor, attributed to Stevens & Williams.

French plaques will include a large porcelain example, 23 inches by 15 inches, dated 1882 and signed “A. Chaignon”, with a detailed Renaissance scene featuring a cathedral, other structures and people in the streets; and an enamel plaque, 9 ½ inches by 6 inches, with a scene of classically dressed women that shows nice strong colors, in a 22 inch by 13 inch gilt wooden frame with cobalt enamel highlights.

Also sold will be a French enamel and porcelain tile, 12 inches by 18 inches, showing a wonderfully detailed scene of six classically dressed men dueling, with colorful enamel highlights, artist signed and in a gilt wooden frame; and a magnificent, finely hand-painted marked “Beehive” plaque, 18 inches square, featuring “Diana Im Bade” (Diana in the Bath), with scenic décor and gold stencil highlights.
