SUMMARY

WiseGuyReports published new report, title "Global Risk Report Quarterly Update"

Global Risk Report is based on Country Risk Index (GCRI) which is a unique country risk-rating model that determines the existing and future level of country risk by assessing various qualitative and quantitative factors. The index is formulated to help firms prepare their global business strategies on the basis of historical developments in an economy and also their future expectations.

The Country Risk Index incorporates the latest available macroeconomics, political, social, technological, environmental and legal data from a range of recognized national and international statistical sources, and incorporates proprietary data from Economics Research. The model also features expert analytical judgment from in-house economists and takes into account their insights and opinions. By applying a robust approach to assessing risk, analysts ensure that strategists have an effective tool to assess current trends and risks facing the economies across the globe.

The second update version of Country Risk Index (GCRI) 2017 ranks Singapore at the top followed by Sweden and New Zealand. 31 countries were identified in the very low risk zone, 34 countries in the low risk zone, 39 countries under manageable risk, 24 countries under high risk and 8 countries in the very high risk zone in GCRI 2017.

Reverse globalization, cyber crimes, geo-political tensions, rising inequality, policy uncertainty of major economies, automation and job loss rising pollution levels, ageing population and fiscal crisis has been identified as the key global risk factors of 2017. Global political instability is at all times high as reflected from the recent events in Italy, USA and UK. Voters are increasingly becoming hostile towards globalization and international trade which is resulted from heightened feeling of nationalism across the world. Prolonged period of low interest rates in major economies in the world have heightened economic concerns. Some central banks have kept the interest rates below zero. The central banks have been unsuccessful in reviving the economic activities and financial markets by keeping the interest rates at a very low level which is a worrisome sign for the global economy.
