

Location of Bigfoot Burial Cave Possibly Identified

The Godfather is Back in Montana Seeking The Bigfoot Burial Cave and Filming the Second Movie in the Sinister Sasquatch Series

REDWOOD CITY, CA, UNITED STATES, October 16, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- East Glacier Montana is also known as the final frontier. The Blackfeet tribe is one of the only tribes that retained their ancestral land when the treaties were signed. There have been a cornucopia of stories about the creature known as Bigfoot coming from this area. Some of these stories have been passed down from generation to generation passing on the possible location of a Bigfoot burial cave in these mountains.

Two of the most compelling stories that have been brought to the legendary Tom Biscardi's attention have come from this area. One of these stories is from a native American that shot one of these creatures from his porch. The creature had been harassing the family for a period of time. He was protecting his family because they were in fear for their lives. After it went down another creature came out of the woods and cradled the wounded creature in it's arms then carried it off. The family presented Tom Biscardi and his team with pictorial evidence of the encounter. This evidence was sent to the lab and returned as authentic. The photos depicted the legs, arms, head, and torso of each creature and also blood from the mortally wounded one.

The second story was from a very credible homeland security border patrol sentry who saw a bi-pedal creature large and hairy possibly a primate leaving large impressions in the snow going towards a cave.
