

Immerse yourself in the 1930s with this amazing new postal subscription game

The latest in role playing and puzzle games to hit the market - Cosykiller is a unique project spanning traditional book publishing and board games.

GRIMSBY, N.E.LINCS , UK, February 9, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The year is 1934 and Marie Jones is missing...

Red Herring Games invites you to join the world wide team of sleuths who are already engrossed in the latest role playing game to hit the open market.

Funded originally through Kickstarter and gradually growing its fan base - this is a subscription box with a difference! Described as a cross between a choose your own adventure novel and a role playing detective game; this unique project was brought to life by the award winning firm Red Herring Games, an international team of fictional assassins.

Each month players are sent critical details pertaining to the case from an heir hunter who is searching through the clues in the past to try and discover what happened to Marie.

Each box holds different clues, and as the investigation unfolds players are sent objects designed to recreate the look and feel of a period crime, including vintage themed memorabilia, spices, aged paper, even an old journal with burned pages. There are ciphers, sketches and plenty of intrigue. All in all - it's an ideal present for wannabe sleuths, armchair detectives and lovers of vintage memorabilia.

Find out more about the story or join in the hunt for the killer at www.cosykiller.com

Box one in the first story includes a hand burned journal.

The attention to detail continues as the story develops into box 2
