

Roswell Pro Audio Sponsors Nashville's H.O.M.E. Organization

H.O.M.E. provides networking, collaboration and education opportunities to musicians trying to break into the business.

NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE, USA, February 13, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Roswell Pro Audio announces its sponsorship of H.O.M.E., a nonprofit 501(c)(6) membership organization that acts as a hub for local musicians and engineers looking to get into the music business. Roswell Pro Audio joins a sponsorship team that includes Red Bull, CD Baby and Fanny's House of Music.

The H.O.M.E. headquarters, opening February 15, 2018, is a community music facility complete with a recording studio, rehearsal space, and live performance stage, all located inside the Center 615 building in East Nashville.

Roswell Pro Audio Founder Matt McGlynn believes strongly in the H.O.M.E mission to provide networking, collaboration and education opportunities to musicians who don't have access to those things on their own. "It's a cool idea and a worthy cause. I wish I'd had access to something like this when I was starting out," says Matt.

H.O.M.E. founder Logan Crowe shares his excitement about teaming up with Roswell, "Matt instantly understood the vision and said he would support it. I know that he really sees the struggle and cares about music creators."

Crowe also appreciates the value of having sponsors that are highly regarded in the music industry. Of Roswell microphones he says, "H.O.M.E. received a matched pair of Mini K47s and I took them to my studio to try them out on a session. They are so warm and clear...far superior to the overheads we were using. Now we use them to track vocals on many sessions as well. They are extremely versatile and sound amazing!"

About Roswell Pro Audio

two microphones, the Mini K47 and Delphos, have become the go-to choice on sources as diverse as guitar, vocals, piano, and drums at hundreds of studios.

As creator of the RecordingHacks.com website, with its extensive database detailing thousands of microphones, McGlynn spent years researching and analyzing the best microphones in the world. He then applied that expertise to designing circuit upgrade kits and replacement capsules for the "DIY audio" community, via Microphone-Parts.com. Now, with Roswell Pro Audio, McGlynn has distilled this knowledge even further by creating a distinctive line of stellar-sounding boutique microphones that consistently perform far above their price class.
