FORT WORTH, TEXAS, UNITED STATES, March 8, 2018

/EINPresswire.com/ -- In a world where one out of two people are expected to have cancer in their lifetime, many people are returning to healing herbs and time-honored remedies to improve health. Today, we can explore ancient, restorative powers of healing herbs, flowers, and essential oils.

Judy Griffin is an internationally known herbalist, and aroma therapist, with a PhD in the expanding field of nutrition. She creates and produces over 500 Aroma Health Texas products. Dr. Griffin's products tap the body's self-healing mechanisms. She helped her twin son and daughter, overcome immune deficiencies when doctors did not expect them to live. Later, she restored a 50% hearing loss in her youngest child, then healed Crohn's in her own small intestine without using drugs.

Judy traveled over 20 years learning healing herbs from diverse cultures. Dr. Griffin authored Mother Nature's Herbal, a multi-cultural classic, including hundreds of remedies, culinary and skin care recipes. Each chapter teaches how ancient cultures prepared herbs and avoided any toxic properties. The book explains organic gardening, companion planting, landscaping, and pet care for aspiring herbalists. Flowers That Heal is a humorous fairytale teaching aroma therapy and herbal techniques. Judy includes 40 years of research developing the Petite Fleur Essences. Dr. Griffin explores the remarkable healing qualities of herbs and flowers affecting mental, emotional, and physical health, simultaneously.

How important is the care and quality of products to assure effectiveness?

“Specific growing conditions and appropriate harvesting assures quality. For example, our echinacea roots are harvested after 3-5 years, in the fall, to obtain the most medicinal benefits. Our aromatic flower essences and essential oils, are steam distilled, over low heat, in glass, and hand separated without hexane, a petrochemical by-product, used with commercial essential oils.”

Dr. Griffin's topical products are so pure they have been used in hospitals for over 20 years. “I initially created aroma blends for bone marrow, stem cell, and organ transplant patients. Soon, I was creating blends for all cancers, sickle cell anemia, lymphedema, heart and lung disease, pre and post-surgical procedures, high-risk pregnancies, chemically dependent, palliative care and hospice patients.

Judy also developed personal care products that are free from chemical scent and parabens. Why are these better than commercially manufactured, personal care products? "Parabens have been linked to cancer. Chemical scent definitely harms wildlife."

Judy strongly cautions about the imminent environmental dangers affecting all of us. These pollutants are flowing into our water, air, and soil, challenging our foods, aromatic plants, and healing herbs, with lead, mercury, cadmium, and arsenic. These cancer-causing substances certainly contribute to why one of two people are expected to have cancer in their lifetime.

Judy Griffin helps thousands of people and pets, through personal or phone consults, and therapeutic products.

CUTV news will feature Judy Griffin in an interview with Jim Masters Monday March 12th at 2 p.m. at 2 p.m. EST.
