

TidBit Social App Launches in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, March 19, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- TidBit App debuts in the Golden Gate City. Currently featuring NYC, Miami, and DC, and now available on iOS and Android in San Francisco. TidBit is the first application that derives restaurant ratings solely from users' social networks.

"Say goodbye to generic restaurant ratings and rely on your peers and people who you trust for restaurant and dish recommendations" said TidBit co-founder and CEO, Juan Figueredo. He added, "What we aimed to do with TidBit was make it all about the user. We strongly believe that you must know someone before his or her opinion is relevant."

With TidBit, personalized ratings appear for both dishes and the corresponding restaurants, allowing for a more transparent review of the dining experiences of a user's social network.

TidBit offers several unique and helpful features. Upon opening the app, users are welcomed to the TidFeed, which is the rating feed of users' social networks. On the TidFeed, users get quick snapshots of their network's restaurant reviews in real time, with photos, comments, and an array of ratings: from dishes to ambience and service. In addition, users can find great eats nearby thanks to location-based restaurant guidance. Users can now stay in the know and add new restaurant discoveries to their Wish list to make plans for their next dining experience.

TidBit features improve your restaurant search and experience:

- Finding the right place to eat has never been easier — TidBit's interactive map allows users to find restaurants nearby with a rating from 1-10; filters allow users to find exactly the cuisine, price range, or neighborhood they want
- Sharing and discovering trendy new restaurants and dishes is streamlined thanks to TidBit's fully uploaded menus
- Rating is a cinch thanks to the quick-rate function
- Reserve meals through TidBit's Open Table API

About TidBit

TidBit is the first mobile application that fully connects social media and dining out. With TidBit, users can create a unique network — tying together friends, family, and foodies — to confidently pick not only top restaurants but their best dishes also. TidBit is simple, intuitive, but most importantly, informative. TidBit was founded in 2016 by three foodies who love exploring different types of cuisines and embracing all cultures through food.
