John Cameron Gives Today Show Audiences First Look at New Book and Insight Into TV Series Exposing Edward Edwards The Most Prolific Serial Killer of All Time

SEATTLE, WA, USA, April 12, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Veteran detective John Cameron will be appearing on the Today Show to discuss the chilling documentary series “It Was Him: The Many Murders of Ed Edwards” scheduled to begin airing on The Paramount Network April 16, 2018 of which John stars in.

John may also be discussing new evidence that has since been uncovered linking Edward Edwards to killing Tracy Halbach and framing Steve Avery among many other chilling discoveries included in his new book that is being published at the time of the Today Show giving audiences the very first opportunity to investigate new revelations that have since been discovered. The new book “It Was Always Me – Edward Edwards The Most Prolific Serial Killer of All Time” can be purchased by viewers at www.itwasalwaysme.com at a discount during and after The Today Show and at other online book stores at full price after the airing on The Today Show. The new book is being published by publicly traded ReelTime Media (OTCPK:RLTR) who recently partnered with Cameron to help bring the information and evidence contained in it to the public.

years. Some of which are still unsolved, yet others convicted and, in some cases, executed innocent men.

The book and evidence presented in it has recently gained national exposure in In Touch <http://www.intouchweekly.com/posts/edward-edwards-jonbenet-ramsey-black-dahlia-156347> , and in

Although Ed Edwards was convicted of only 5 murders the discoveries presented in the book have led many to believe that the spree could have exceeded 60 people spanning over 60 years including many of the most famous murders of all time. Murders such as those committed by the Zodiac Killer, the deaths of Elizabeth Short, known as the Black Dahlia, JonBenet Ramsay, as well as the murders of Teresa Halbach and Laci Peterson, whose convicted killers already sit in prison.

Veteran Detective/Author John Cameron exclaimed: "I have always had tremendous respect for The Today Show and it is kind of surreal appearing on one of the longest running and coveted shows in history. The Paramount Network is truly doing a tremendous amount of good by shining a light on this evidence and in helping so many families to begin to understand what actually happened. I hope that once people see the series and read the information contained in my new book that there will be even more evidence forthcoming and that more good can come from understanding this unprecedented series of murders."

Barry Henthorn ReelTime Media CEO stated: "Having spent time with John through the process of publishing his new book it is impossible not to take note of his passion and dedication to solving murders whose victims otherwise would be unprecedented. What he has been able to uncover relating to Edward Edwards and his consistent pattern of killing and setting people up is unspeakable. I am very much looking forward to the public being able to see the evidence presented in Johns new book that we are publishing tomorrow, and I am riveted by being able to watch the documentary on The Paramount Network."
