

Elevate Nutrition Releases New Plant-Based Vegan Chocolate Protein Powder

Delicious formula eradicates myths surrounding plant proteins by way of a sweet, rich, creamy texture; Chocolate Brownie Protein Powder "smoothie without ice."

NEW YORK, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, April 19, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Elevate Nutrition, a New York-based provider of revolutionary plant-based supplements designed to improve athletic performance and encourage healthy living, announced the launch of its new plant-based vegan chocolate protein powder, dubbed Chocolate Brownie because of its delicious flavoring. The formula eradicates the myths surrounding plant-based proteins by way of a sweet, rich, creamy texture that's being marketed by Elevate representatives as a "smoothie without ice."

"Our fit crew of vegan plant-based protein powder drinkers break more plateaus, achieve more goals, break more records and are fueled with more clean energy and endurance," says Paul J. Salomone, co-founder, and COO of Elevate Nutrition. "It came as no surprise, then, that more and more whey protein powder drinkers were making the switch to Elevate Nutrition for a taste and test run to gauge how well they enjoyed the best vegan protein powder...and they loved it!"

"Our newest plant-based protein powder contains no sugar or Stevia, does not promote flatulence like whey protein does, contains all eight essential amino acids for a complete formula, boasts a high content of BCAAs and glutamine for optimal recovery and is so smooth it can be enjoyed through a straw," adds Salomone.

Elevate Nutrition Chocolate Brownie plant-based vegan protein powder is packed with live enzymes, essential fatty acids, vitamins, minerals and other co-factors to aid absorption, digestion and general energy boosting, while allergy and inflammation-inducing ingredients are kept out of the formula, which is also non-GMO, gluten-free, non-dairy and soy-free.

"We're proud to welcome our new Chocolate Brownie protein powder to Elevate Nutrition's respected line of plant-based vegan endurance and health supplements," adds Jillian Salomone, co-founder, and CEO of Elevate Nutrition. "Our plant-based vegan protein powder, which tastes like sumptuous chocolate batter, boasts a hint of sweetness, yet there is no sugar or Stevia in it – the secret comes in the form of Monk fruit from Asia for a surprisingly simple sweetness. Indeed, many people think of bodybuilders when they envision protein powder, but our 'smoothie without ice' is geared toward anyone who is active, on the go and may need some more protein in their diet."

Additionally, Elevate Nutrition's plant-based vegan protein powder is finely milled to maximize every scoop and to yield a finer consistency, enabling it to mix and blend easily in beverages.

Elevate Nutrition plant-based supplements are backed by a "110-percent satisfaction guarantee" and are all made in the USA in an FDA-registered facility following strict health and safety regulations to ensure purity, quality, and peace of mind.

Elevate Nutrition is located at 50 Main Street #1000 in White Plains, NY. For additional information visit https://www.elevatenutrition.com/.
