The American Board of Venous & Lymphatic Medicine (ABVLM.org) is an independent, non-profit organization founded for the purpose of certifying physicians who have met a defined standard of education, training, and knowledge in the field of venous and lymphatic medicine. It was established to improve the standards of medical practitioners and the quality of patient care related to the treatment of venous disorders and disease.

Venous and lymphatic medicine is the discipline that involves the diagnosis and treatment of acute and chronic venous and lymphatic disorders, including varicose veins, venous edema, chronic venous insufficiency with skin changes, venous leg ulcers, deep venous disease, pelvic venous insufficiency syndromes, congenital venous malformations, venous thromboembolism, and lymphedema. A broad array of therapeutic modalities is used to address the range of venous and lymphatic disorders including compression therapy techniques, chemical ablation modalities, thermal ablation devices, laser, endovenous catheter-based treatments, ultrasound-based modalities, pharmacological treatment and surgical approaches.

“I am honored to be invited and look forward to serving with many of my esteemed colleagues on a committee of the American Board of Venous & Lymphatic Medicine,” said Chris Pittman, M.D., Medical Director and CEO of Vein911® Vein Treatment Centers. “My deeper involvement with the ABVLM will provide unique insight to help Vein911® Vein Treatment Centers grow our vision to be America's choice for vein care.”
