The webinar, which is open to business practitioners and industry professionals with an interest in the Governance, Risk Management and Compliance (GRC) disciplines, provides practical guidance on the use of policy management software to support and empower GRC operations.

The Webinar is hosted and curated by Sword Achiever, with key content from independent industry analyst Michael Rasmussen, Chief GRC Pundit for GRC 20/20. > " This webinar helps organizations put policy management into practice across the business, with a coordinated enterprise strategy for policy creation, maintenance, communication, attestation & training"
>
> Salman Rauf, Head of Sales at Sword Achiever

Attendees will learn how to:
• Define a process lifecycle for managing policies
• Establish policy ownership and accountability with a single version of the truth
• Provide policy consistency
• Engage all levels of staff
• Communicate policies across business relationships and the supply chain
• Deliver evidence of policy communication and understanding
• Track policy attestation
• Identify policy issues

Sword Policy Manager allows organizations to demonstrate corporate responsibility and implement a defensible compliance programme by allowing the entire lifecycle of policies and procedures to be measured and attested. Sword Policy Manager software stores the latest version of all documents centrally, with a full audit trail for changes made to policies and procedures, so that organizations can clearly demonstrate compliance and good governance, something that can be challenging particularly in highly regulated industries. Sword Policy Manager is a simplistic and adaptable system allowing straightforward communication of policies and procedures to staff.

Salman Rauf, Head of Sales at Sword Achiever commented; "The use of Policy Management software is increasingly important for organizations looking to manage complex global supply chains. This webinar will help organizations to put policy management theory into practice across all areas of the business, with a co-ordinated enterprise strategy for policy creation, maintenance, communication, attestation and training."

Sword Achiever was included in the Top 25 Compliance Solution Providers 2017 as compiled by CIO Magazine.
