William Bronchick Nationally Recognized Attorney Explains the Checkbook IRA for investing in real estate and other non-traditional assets in your IRA.

AURORA, COLORADO, UNITED STATES, May 22, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- William Bronchick, nationally recognized attorney and best-selling real estate author, explains the Checkbook IRA for investing in real estate and other non-traditional assets.

With the uncertainty of the market, many investors are using their IRAs to invest in non-traditional assets such as real estate, precious metals, private placements and tax lien certificates. By self-directing their IRA accounts to a boutique custodian, they are permitted to buy assets other than stocks, bonds, mutual funds, and ETFs. The fees for these types of investments are significantly higher than for buying securities since there are ongoing transactional fees (e.g., monthly checks on a rental property). Further, each transaction requires significant paperwork and can take up to five business days.

“Clients can earn substantial returns by investing their IRAs in assets like real estate. They feel that investing in things they have control over makes them feel that their investments are safer.”

Attorney William Bronchick solves these problems with the "checkbook IRA". In addition to helping the client open a self-directed IRA, Mr. Bronchick arranges the account so that the client has full control over the funds for every transaction, making it easier, faster, and considerably less expensive. "Clients can earn substantial returns by investing their IRAs in assets like real estate. They feel that investing in things they have control over makes them feel that their investments are safer", says Bronchick.

William Bronchick has prepared an eye-opening video that explains the entire process on his website at www.bronchicklaw.com.
