

Jackie Slevin of Geocosmic Studies to be Featured on CUTV News Radio

VERONA, NEW JERSEY, UNITED STATES, June 13, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- There's a saying among astrologers that astrology is God's handwriting, that God orchestrates the happenings of the universe and in life through the placement of the planets and stars and how they cast their influences down on each of us.

We're all familiar with the horoscopes one might find in a newspaper or the back of a magazine, but those short blurbs will only give you a sketch of what a person can expect for that month. When you visit an astrologer with your birth chart in hand, you're putting your life under a microscope to see the big picture.

Jackie Slevin is a professional astrologer and the founder of Geocosmic Studies. "Geo" is earth-related; "Cosmic" is related to the heavens; Geocosmic Studies is the merging of how planetary influences manifest on the earth.

Slevin has been practicing as an astrological consultant for 36 years. She also contributes articles for magazines and publications for special interest groups.

"When I was in college, my roommate's aunt sent her niece an astrological wall calendar for the room in our dorm. I started to immerse myself in the all the changing of the moons and the planetary ingresses that were listed in this calendar. And I began to take it more seriously. And then I got home for thanksgiving vacation that year from college, I raided my mother's bookcase for all her astrology books. After that, I just became hooked."

Slevin says she was inspired by astrology's accuracy, its philosophy, and how we can see it manifesting all around us, although so many people are completely unaware of it.

"Astrologers are interacting with the will of universe all the time," says Slevin.

Horoscopus is Latin for "map of the hour". Astrologers can calculate a picture of the sky at the moment of their birth, otherwise known as a horoscope, those planetary placements will have a profound effect on them throughout their entire lives and even determine times in a person's life of good fortune.

"The sky changes every four minutes. The angles of the horoscope change every four minutes in the sky. The Moon changes signs every two days, Mercury changes signs approximately every 22 days, and the Sun change signs every month. In this constant change and orchestration, each planet entering different signs and degrees will impact the placement of the planets that you were born with at certain times throughout your life."

Slevin says she focuses her practice on finding what innate talents her clients are born with and the best way for them to put them to use in the mainstream. She's has even written a book called 'Finding Success in the Horoscope: The Slevin System of Horoscope Analysis'.

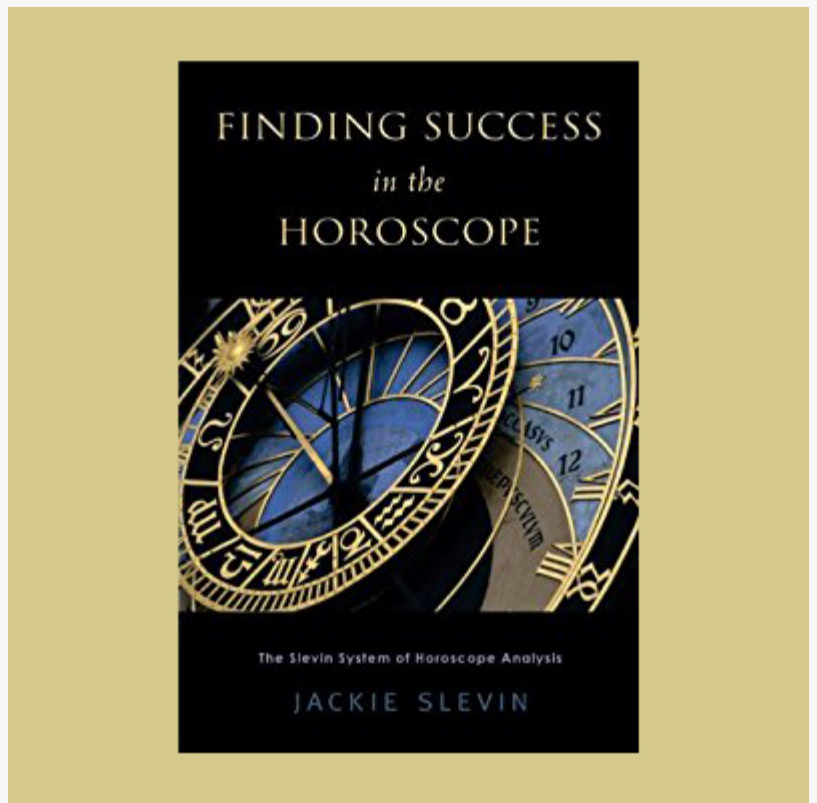

"How we all interact is the influences we have on each other. And those influences in a large part are generated by the heavens."

CUTV News Radio will feature Jackie Slevin in an interview with Doug Llewelyn on June 15th at 11am EDT.
